

Join the International Statistical Institute as an Elected Member

Be recognised
Be involved
Be informed
Benefit discounts

Statistical Science for a Better World

What are your benefits?

As an Elected Member you will

Be recognised

- ISI Elected Membership is a recognition for those who have made significant contributions to the statistical profession and practice.
- You can apply or be nominated. Your application needs the support of three Elected Members.
- The full information can be found on isi-web.org.

Be involved and expand your network

- In a professional society with individual and institutional members in over 150 countries.
- With statisticians from academia, research organizations, national governments, international agencies, business and industry, etc.
- Use the ISI and its 7 Associations' network for exploring new ideas.
- Join one of the ISI Committees or interest groups and become active in an international network in your interest area.

Be informed

- About the ISI and its 7 Associations' activities via monthly electronic news mailings.
- Follow us on Facebook & Twitter (@IntStat).

Benefit

- Join one of the ISI Associations for free (excluding compulsory publications).
- Free online access to the ISI journals International Statistical Review (ISR) and Stat and discount on the joint ASA-RSS magazine Significance.
- Discount rates for participation in the ISI's biennial World Statistics Congress (WSC), the ISI Associations' Conferences and other international conferences such as the JSM.

For more information
please check isi-web.org.

