

Call for Expressions of Interest to Host a Global Partnership for Sustainable Development Data

In response to an unprecedented opportunity to accelerate development progress, governments, development agencies, civil society organizations, private firms and foundations are forming a Global Partnership for Sustainable Development Data. The Global Partnership will bring a diverse set of stakeholders together to galvanize and sustain political commitments, align priorities and norms, strengthen capacities, foster innovation and build trust in the booming data ecosystems of the 21st century.

The Champions of the Global Partnership for Sustainable Development Data are inviting Expressions of Interest (EOIs) from suitable organizations or consortia of organizations to host the Global Partnership.

The selected host organization or consortium will be responsible for serving as a fiduciary host and incubator to the global partnership, including supporting the interim steering group in establishing the secretariat and subsequently supporting the secretariat in implementing activities on behalf of the Global Partnership. During this phase, a premium will be placed on the Global Partnership's ability to be nimble, responsive and fast acting.

Comprehensive details including timelines, requirements for the institutional host and instructions for submitting an EOI can be found at <http://iseeed.org/globalpartnership> .

Expressions of Interest must be submitted by 18 September 2015 by 6:00pm EDT.
