

Do you have news about World Statistics Day? Share it with The World of Statistics!

The News From The World of Statistics e-newsletter is planning to feature World Statistics Day-related articles written by representatives of organizations participating in The World of Statistics in a special October 20 issue. We invite you and your organization to submit stories focused on the following two themes:

1. An article about the activity or activities you and/or your organization are planning for World Statistics Day
2. An article explaining why the goals of World Statistics Day are important to you and/or your organization

The best stories in each theme category—along with the author's byline and photo and his/her organization's logo—will be featured as the lead articles in the planned special October 20. All submitted articles will be included in the special issue.

To ensure your or your organization's article is included in the World Statistics Day special issue, please submit it by 12 a.m. October 15 (U.S. Eastern Standard Time). Email the article to Jeff Myers (jeffrey@amstat.org); email questions to Myers as well.

Thank you for supporting The World of Statistics.

Ron Wasserstein (on behalf of The World of Statistics Steering Committee)