SJIAOS June 2017 issue now available

The June 2017 issue of the SJIAOS is now available. The theme of this issue is the count of young children. This issue describes some experiences of counting children in the census in developed countries such as the US, Canada and France. This has implications for all countries preparing for the 2020 Census round. This issue of the Journal also contains papers related to the evolution and challenges of official statistics, and a timely paper on the need for monitoring of the UN Fundamental Principles of Official Statistics. The June 2017 issue is open to all.
