Bernoulli Prize for an Outstanding Survey Article

The 3rd Bernoulli Prize for an Outstanding Survey Article was awarded to Alexei Borodin and Leonid Petrov for the article "Integrable probability: From representation theory to Macdonald processes." Probability Surveys, v.11:1-58, 2014. Congratulations! More information on the prize can be found at www.bernoulli-society.org

New Bernoulli Society Treasurer

Geoffrey Grimmett (Cambridge, UK) has become our new Treasurer, succeeding Lynne Billard. Many thanks to Lynne for her hard work over the last years!

23rd Conference of the Romanian Society of Probability and Statistics

April 24 - 25, 2020, Timisoara, Romania

www.spsr.ase.ro

Since 1991, the annual conference of the Romanian Society of Probability and Statistics brings together academics and students from Romania and abroad to discuss recent developments in research in probability theory and mathematical statistics. This year, the conference will be held at UPT (Politehnica University of Timisoara).

Rényi 100 Conference

June 28 - July 1, 2021, Budapest, Hungary

conferences.renyi.hu

Alfréd Rényi was born on the 20th of March 1921. To celebrate this occasion, the Alfréd Rényi Institute of Mathematics and the Hungarian Academy of Sciences are organizing a high-profile conference, representing modern probability, graph theory and networks, information theory, dynamical systems, number theory and other fields in Rényi's spirit. That is: not respecting strictly the borders between these and possibly other areas of pure and applied mathematics.
