

Bernoulli Society News May 2020

Winner of Doebelin Prize 2020

Nike Sun (MIT) has been awarded the 2020 Wolfgang Doebelin Prize. The Prize is awarded biannually to a single individual who is in the beginning of his or her mathematical career, for outstanding research in the field of probability theory. The committee was chaired by Zhen-Qing Chen and consisted of Vladimir Bogachev, Takashi Kumagai, Michel Ledoux, Fabio Martinelli, Lea Popovic, Laurent Saloff-Coste. Congratulations! The list of past recipients can be found at <http://www.bernoulli-society.org/index.php/prizes/15-features/169-doeblin-prize-previous-prize-recipients>

42nd Conference on Stochastic Processes and their Applications (SPA)

June 27 - July 1, 2022
Wuhan, China

Previously scheduled for July 2021, the conference will take place in 2022. SPA Conferences are organized under patronage of the Bernoulli Society and can justifiably be regarded as the most important international scientific meeting on the theory and applications of stochastic processes. They are held annually except for the years when the World Congress in Probability and Statistics takes place. The next iteration will be hosted by Wuhan University.

Online International Conference in Actuarial Science, Data Science and Finance (OICA)

<https://oica.univ-lyon1.fr/>

Covid19 is going to change the financial markets and the insurance-reinsurance network. The Bernoulli Society sponsored this online conference that took place on April 28-29, 2020. Replays of talks are available for a limited time.