

Esri Announces Online Analytics Platform for Caribbean Community

Esri has launched the Caribbean GeoPortal, a comprehensive cloud-based platform that provides rich content and solutions from Esri and its partners. Inspiring community through geography, international agencies, financial institutions, inter-governmental organizations, NGO's, as well as academia and the private sector will be able to use the geoportal to address the most urgent development challenges—from economic development and climate issues to disaster risk management and response, as well as health care. This follows after the release of the Africa GeoPortal approximately one year ago as part of the broader program at Esri to support developing regions around the world.
