The ISR is the flagship journal of the ISI and its family of Associations. It publishes papers of broad and general interest in statistics and probability. The types of papers that are suitable for publication include (but are not limited to) the following:

- Reviews/surveys of significant developments in theory, methodology, statistical computing and graphics, statistical education, and application areas.
- Tutorials on important topics.
- Papers:
  - on emerging areas of research or application,
  - describing new developments and/or challenges in relevant areas,
  - addressing foundational issues,
  - on the history of statistics and probability,
  - on topics of importance to the profession or society.
- Historical assessment of seminal papers in the field and their impact.
- Interviews with statisticians who have made prominent contributions to applications, research, and to the development of the profession.

» Forthcoming papers (Wiley Online Library)

» Contents and abstracts (Wiley Online Library)

» ISR online

Alerts

You can subscribe to our Table of Contents Alerts of the ISR.
Copy and ideas

Papers must be of interest to a sufficiently broad spectrum of the members of the ISI and its Associations, who include researchers and practitioners in academia, government, business, and industry. Selected papers will be published with discussions and a rejoinder by the author(s).

» Author guidelines (Wiley Online Library)

Proposals for interviews should be sent to the co-editors-in-chief.

Colophon

The journal consists of three issues per year, published in April, August and December.

Print ISSN: 0306-7734
Online ISSN: 1751-5823.

Co-editors-in-chief

- Marianthi Markatou, University of Buffalo, USA
- Scott Holan, University of Missouri/US Census Bureau, USA

» Editorial board (Wiley Online Library)